

Ahne Simonsen, DVM

Dr. Simonsen graduated from the Atlantic Veterinary School at the University of Prince Edward Island in 2007. Prior to receiving her veterinary degree, she spent three years working in the documentary film and television industries. An active volunteer throughout veterinary school, Dr. Simonsen has worked with a number of high quality, high volume spay/neuter clinics and animal shelters and volunteered her time with local non-profits focused on animal wellness and community education. She joined the RAVS staff in 2012 to continue her career dedicated to helping animals and communities in need. In her free time, Ahne enjoys being outdoors, traveling the world, exercising, learning Spanish, reading classic novels, watching indie films and documentaries, and spending time with her family, friends, and posse of pets.